Japan Agency for Marine-Earth Science and Technology

Sixth Seminar in the Series of "Ocean and Earth Institute" - JAMSTEC: Connecting Ocean and Earth -

The Japan Agency for Marine-Earth Science and Technology will be hosting the sixth seminar in the "Ocean and Earth Institute" series as described below. The seminar is designed to increase public understanding and interest in marine earth science and technology by introducing JAMSTEC's latest research findings and achievements in an approachable and comprehensive manner.

The sixth seminar in the series, titled "JAMSTEC: Connecting Ocean and Earth", will take place in collaboration with the Sendai City Board of Education. It will highlight three major facilities at JAMSTEC; the manned research submersible "SHINKAI 6500", Deep Sea Drilling Vessel CHIKYU, and the Nation's most powerful super computer, "Earth Simulator". Topics will also cover the science accomplishments they have made, regarding deep sea environments, the Earth's interior and global environmental changes.

An event for children, "Kids Science Park", will also be held. It will offer talks and hands-on experiments about deep sea exploring, earthquake investigations and research vessels. Miniature models of the above facilities will be on display.
